Unpredictable events make year unique

One of the most popular songs of the 1989-1990 school year was "We Didn't Start the Fire" by Billy Joel. It is a sort of chronology of world events that have happened since Joel's birth in 1949. Some events cited in the song are entertaining, but some are frightening and even tragic. In the style of that song, here is an overview of significant events of the school year. As we look back on the past and ahead to the future, we are reminded that the fire IS burning, and it will "burn on, and on, and on ..."

Driving Daisy, My Left Foot, Glory, Fourth of July; Tandy, Day-Lewis, Washington and Fricker.

Batman, Indy Jones, Lethal Weapon, Shrunk the Kids; Look Who's Talking, Parenthood, Dead Poets, Little Mermaid.

Field of Dreams, Henry V, War of Roses and The Bear; Ninja Turtles, New Kids, Bobby Brown, Paula Abdul.

Rap music, heavy metal, folk rock, pop tunes; M.C. Hammer, Metallica, John Denver, Bust a Move.

Cancelled Newhart, axed Alf, L.A. Law, Bart Simpson; Home Videos, Annabeth, live coverage, Santa Barbara.

UNI in NC-2A, Hawkeyes fall in Dome of Doom; Joe Montana, Superbowl, Tyson KO'd, Douglas rules.

Capriati, Agassi, Seles, Chang, tennis teens; Michael Jordan, Running Rebels, baseball lockout, Oakland A's.

(1) Project adviser Mrs. Savereide signs copies of "Seventh Heaven" for seventh grade authors. (2) Their last prom together. (3) At MORP coronation, Jason Kinne lip synchs to Bobby Brown. (4) Amy Schilling supervises the delivery of flowers to the Homecoming queen candidates. (5) "The King's Rejects," an NU group, participated in the UNI Student Art Association Renaissance Festival. (6) Part of the Victorian Christmas chorus, Neal Westin, Scott Clausen, Mark Nielsen and Kevin Koch. (7) Eighth graders have fun on the bus to St. Paul. (8) Tony Ellis inflates his new Nike Pumps. (9) The Class of 1990 considers the challenge "to care enough ..."

Pete Rose, Roy Marble, Valvano, sports scandals;
Chrissy Evert, Flo Jo, Abdul-Jabbar say goodbye.

Zsa Zsa, Leona, Donald Trump, Ivana;
controversy, homelessness, murder, lies and politics.

AIDS home, AIDS quilt, Ryan White and Elton John;
Earth Day, environment, garbage recycling.

San Francisco earthquake, Hugo on the loose;
Sioux City plane crash, Alfred Haynes saved the day.

Abortion, prejudice, censorship and drug wars;
Noriega, hostages, Middle East, Holy War.

Soviet Bloc, Gorby, Glasnost, Democracy;
Iron Curtain falls in dust, Berlin Wall comes tumbling down.

Jim Henson, Sammy Davis, Greta Garbo, Olivier;
Ava Gardner, Stanwyck, Irving Berlin, Hank Gathers,
Clayton Hartwig suicide? Halston, Bette Davis died.

(1) Volleyball players plan strategy. (2) Student Council President Miles Ellis presents Homecoming Queen Kirsten Christiason with a necklace. (3) Jeff Albrecht tries to avoid the raw eggs in the cheerleaders' obstacle course. (4) On the first Sturgis Falls float of the AFPLS ride Annabeth Gish and Gary Kroeger. (5) Scott Clausen and Merl Schmits rehearse for Guys and Dolls, (6) Kevin Prymer shows his loyalty to NIKI shoes. (7) Boys' state track team members celebrate their victory. The trophy is "back where it belongs," as Coach Lee said.

(1) Newlyweds Sarah (Tina Loenser) and Sky Masterson (Kevin Koch) wish Miss Adelaide (Jessica Pounds) and Nathan Detroit (Scott Clausen) happiness for their future. (2) While Agatha (Nell Schmits) and Arvide (Neal Westin) watch in dismay, General Cartwright (Kristi Marchesani) threatens to close the mission, and Sky slips Sarah a marker for one dozen sinners. (3) In the Save-A-Soul Mission, Harry the Horse (Bob Poe) "confesses" his most recent sin. (4) Nicely-Nicely Johnson (Forrest Roberts) leads the chorus in "Sit Down You're Rockin' the Boat." (5) Sinking into debt as he rolls against the weary gamblers, Big Julie (Jason Kinne) tries his luck again. (6) Sky explains the nature of "sucker bets" to Nathan. (7) After several glasses of Dulce de Leche, Sarah dances with another customer (Jerrold Morgan) in El Cafe Cubana. (8) Lt. Brannigan (Todd Porter) congratulates Nathan and Adelaide at Nathan's surprise "bachelor dinner." (9) In the "Fugue for Tinhorns," Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Benny Southstreet (Merl Schmits), and Rusty Charlie (Jason Schoneman) discuss their favorites for the next horserace. (10) Nathan tries to secure the Biltmore Garage for the big crap game. (11) Adelaide and the Hot Box Farmerettes entertain the audience with "A Bushel and a Peck." (12) The craphshooters salute their "good old reliable" friend Nathan.

Sometimes the growing up years seemed long, but now they seem all too short. What can we say to the boy who became a man? May the sun always be bright on your face, the snow fresh powder, and the moguls an easy challenge. You will make your own trail, Kevin, as you always have. That's as it should be. We will be there to proudly watch each new run. We love you.

Heather,

You are a delight to know. We love you as a daughter — that much you could expect from your parents! But, more than that, as you have grown and changed and matured, you have become a warm, cheerful, spirited, beautiful person. We prize you now as a friend, as well. We send you on, knowing that you have the talent, the skills, the intelligence, the sensibility and the compassion to live a full and important life. We know that you will pass on the love and nurturing you have received to others who will come into your life and to the planet we share. We are so very proud of you and will love you always.

The purpose of the Booster Club is to provide support for the variety of activities at NU. This support has included monetary donations and labor. Over the past several years we have provided monies to the athletic department to purchase, for example, video equipment; we have sold advertising for the sports programs; we have provided labor and organizing assistance for music programs; and we have supported travel for a student who earned national honors for singing. We want to continue these efforts, but we need many more new members. Please join us during the next membership drive.

Softball players sharpen skills

The NU softball team looked forward to a fun-filled and successful season under new Coach Mary Otten. Yet each player had goals of her own. We started the season with only two seniors to lead us and show the younger athletes the ropes. As the season progressed, these underclassmen began showing some of us what to do. Liz, Lori and Kim, you deserve to be commended for your outstanding work. Your future team is a very promising one.

We did suffer a little this year due to the injuries of Debbie Nelson and Jessica Pounds. Their absences required shifting positions and an adjustment period for the new players. We also missed Agelo Reppas during her tour of France. All of these factors set us off to a slow start.

Sami Niederhauser led the team in pitching, which resulted in an all-conference honorable mention. Stacy Allers, shortstop and pitcher, received second team all-conference utility player award. We will miss Stacy and her ability. Dawn Dierks, our other senior, also deserves recognition. Her positive reinforcement was always a great pick-me-up in team spirit.

Girls, this last season we sharpened skills and cultivated experience. I'm sure that our next season will pay off. Go get 'em! And remember, "It's not if you win or lose, but how much dirt you make the other team eat!"

Baseball team hopes soar, then fizzle

This summer's baseball team started with high hopes, especially after beating Janesville for the first time in at least five years. We thought we had the makings of a great year and got off on a rampage, winning four of our first six games, including one over North Tama. But then we hit a losing streak and the wins came few and far between. We did manage to win the first of a double header against BCL-UW and kept the second very close, but that was it. The season ended with the team finally pulling together and playing our best game of the year against Wapsie Valley in sectional competition, but again we lost.

Congratulations to Jason Krohn and Eric Ellis who earned second team all-conference honors and to Ron Hageman who received honorable mention all-conference. Best of luck to next year's team, and as always, "Do it for the NUT!"

Swimmin' women send seven to state meet

Going into the '89 season, the girls' swimming team knew attaining last year's goals would be difficult. We lost some strong swimmers, but the incoming freshmen helped to balance the loss. They worked hard and maintained a good attitude even through some of Coach Myers' most hectic workouts. The juniors again added strong support to the team. Diver Tina Loenser made great strides through the season and added many points to the team score.

We had a highly successful season thanks to all the members of the team-swimmers, divers and especially Coach Myers. In dual meets we were undefeated and placed fourth at districts, qualifying both the medley and freestyle relay teams, Shannon Bunger in the 200 and 100 freestyle, Kirsten Christiason in the 200 IM and 100 backstroke, and Shelli Olson in the 200 and 500 freestyle. The medley relay made up of Amy Brammer (backstroke), Liz Kinne (breaststroke), Beth Pedersen (butterfly) and Dani Staker (freestyle) placed 23rd at state. The freestyle relay with Shannon Bunger, Dani Staker, Kirsten Christiason and Shelli Olson placed sixth. Shannon Bunger placed eighth in the 100 free and 12th in the 200 free. Kirsten Christiason placed 13th in the 200 IM and ninth in the 100 backstroke. Shelli Olson placed third in the 200 free and first in the 500 free.

For many of the seniors, this ends eleven years of competitive swimming. It has provided us with many enjoyable memories that will never be forgotten. On behalf of the seniors, I'd like to say "Thank you" to Coach Myers. I'm sure it wasn't always easy putting up with us. Best of luck.

1989 Cross Country Team

Runners' season is a rise to the top

The 1989 cross country season was a rise to the top. The year began with a lot of questions to be answered. The team was young with only two returning seniors, Chris Keefe and Ron Hageman. Giving in to dreams of being a quarterback, three-year letterman J.D. Cryer opted not to go out. The arrival of "foreign powers" Frank Negri and Tore Berg helped things to look up. And with a lot of help from juniors Lief Bentley and Merl Schmits and sophomore Justin Hartman, we became a force to deal with. The team ran strong all season. At districts we unseated the 1988 and '89 state champion. We were full of hope going into state, but came up with less than a satisfactory finish. "Choke" is such a ugly word. Nevertheless, we did place two runners on the All-Metro team and finished fourth in the state, which is still respectable, even for NU High.

We won't forget the fire alarm while Ron was in the shower, the return of the famous "B. Buddies" (Merl and Lief), "Thor" Berg's meeting with the volleyball team while he was showering and sophomore Dustin Kane's "Peanut-a-Day" thing.

In all seriousness, the seniors wish good luck to next year's team. With number one, three and four plus runners returning, the state title could be recaptured. With hard work and the "whip that stings," there can be no doubt.

The 1989 football season brought with it the hopes and expectations of once again reaching the State 1A playoffs. With an experienced group of seniors back and many talented newcomers, the outlook seemed bright.

The first game brought a heavy dose of reality. After losing to Clarence-Lowden, we came together as a team and worked hard to beat a tough Grundy Center team, the highlight of our season. The following weeks resulted in disappointing losses, and mid-season changes in position were made as well as a change in offensive formation. The rest of our season was typified by a lack of continuity and mistakes, as we won just one more game, Homecoming.

Congratulations to Travis Else who earned first team all-conference honors, as well as Kevin Koch and Jason Kinne who earned second team distinction. Kinne also made the 1989 Des Moines Register first team all-state.

Thanks to the freshmen who helped us all year in practice, and a special thanks to Bob "Cherry Pie" Poe for his endless inspiration. Good luck to next year's team.

We entered the 1989 volleyball season with high hopes and a new coach, Bob O'Brien. We opened with a hard fought match against Hudson who finished second in the conference. We surprised many people, including ourselves, but then shock set in as we fell into a slump for the better part of the season. Finally in the last weeks, we picked up momentum and played to our potential, creating one of our season highlights: a near victory against Dike, the future state champions. Hopes were high for tournament play, but our season ended after an exhausting second round match with Denver.

Debbie Nelson was named to the all-conference second team and Katie Olson earned honorable mention. Special recognition should be given the seniors: Eva, for her endless quest in leading the offense; Shannon and her height contributing greatly to the defense; Rachel for her good hard serves and back row play; and Niki for her versatility in the back and front rows and as a setter.

Our record may not have shown it, but we learned a lot and had fun playing volleyball. Next year should bring the team a winning season. Kristi, watch out for Eldora. Annelie, just cross your legs. Agelo, use your vicious tip. And Tami, use your Grundy twin as a target. Good luck, Bushwhackers!

1989-90 Sophomore Boys' Basketball Team

After last year's great basketball season, the 1989-90 year began with high expectations. However, we knew it would be hard to get to state. We started strong with a win against South Tama, but after that we had an in-and-out season and didn't find ourselves again until just before the district tournament games.

There were unforgettable moments, however. One was Chris Hagenow's three pointer against Ackley-Geneva. Another was our win over BCL-UW after losing the game before it. The third, and best, was our win against Tripoli in the playoffs when nobody thought we could win. Then came our heartbreaking loss to Hudson to end the season.

Three members of the team received all-conference awards. Tucker Else was placed on the first team and named Most Valuable Player of the North Iowa Cedar League. He also made the Des Moines Register's second team all state. Ron Hageman was named to the second team all-conference and tied for the NICL rebound title. Jason Kinne earned all-conference honorable mention.

Thank you fans and cheerleaders for your support. And good luck to the basketball players and all other NU sports teams next year.

1989-90 Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball Team

The girls' basketball team saw some of its goals achieved in 1989-90 but some have to be carried over until next year. We had lots of hopes for a winning season, and after two successful non-conference games, we thought we could do it. However, our team size dwindled, and we had our work cut out for us. Our record does not show it, but we worked hard and gave our best all year. Coach Waack's poem and our locker sign support inspired us to our first conference win over North Tama in three years! We showed improvement and often came close to winning, but weren't quite able to grasp it.

Returning next year to the guard court are Agelo Reppas, Tina Loenser, Kim Pearce and Lori Lorenson. In the forward court will be Dani Staker, Liz Kinne and Kim Riehle. Their experience should make them stronger. The senior captains, Katie Olson (who received honorable mention all-conference), Sami Niederhauser and Eva Nielsen will miss everyone.

We want to thank our parents and coaches for all the support they've given us and our teammates for the memories. We hope that you will stay healthy and keep "head buttin'" until you get to the top of the conference. Good luck.

(1) Liz Kinne gets into position for the rebound as Dani Staker takes a shot. (2) Guards Eva Nielsen and Tina Loenser hold off the BCL-UW Comets. (3) Katie Olson throws a long pass up the court. (4) Agelo Reppas and Katie Olson go for a loose ball after blocking out their forwards. (5) Forwards Dani Staker, Sami Niederhauser and Liz Kinne set up the offense. (6) Katie Olson cuts off a Grundy Center player, denying the basket. (7) Junior Dani Staker looks over her options. (8) Sami Niederhauser plays a tough defense. (9) Liz Kinne puts up a shot over two Denver guards. (10) Eva Nielsen and Agelo Reppas trap an offensive player. (11) Putting up a scoring shot is Sami Niederhauser. (12) The guard court of Eva Nielsen, Agelo Reppas and Katie Olson keep the Ackley-Geneva forwards from scoring.

Talented youngsters enhance swim team

Things looked pretty bleak as the '89-90 swim team began to practice. We had lost a lot of our top swimmers to graduation. But a number of freshmen had come out, and two swimmers, Nathan Hinkle and Mike North, drove in from Dike. Coach Myers filled us with confidence and we were ready to take on the world.

The underclassmen were led by the veterans of the swim team, most of all senior Paul Hoogestrat. His dedication was shown every day as he made the 22 mile trip from Parkersburg to Cedar Falls. His never-ending commitment to swimming was admired by the entire team. Leadership was also provided by seniors Frank Negri, Jeff Albrecht and team captain Jeff Olson. Some much needed comic relief come from junior Steve Parrish.

The biggest surprise of the year was how well the freshmen (Jason Lee, Matt Kamienski, Ben Lyons, Thomas Bruun and Nathan Hinkle) did. The sophomores (Clint Hardman, Matt Johnson and Jason Schoneman) showed real promise.

At the district meet, our biggest hope was the medley relay consisting of Ben Lyons, Jeff Olson, Matt Johnson and Paul Hoogestrat. Our chances for state were fouled by one missed turn although we still cut our previous best time by almost three seconds. Matt Johnson missed going to state in the 100 fly by less than half a second. However, freshman diver Thomas Bruun placed third, and went on to finish thirteenth at state.

In closing, I would like to recognize and express my appreciation to Coach Myers for whom I have only total respect. He is the greatest motivator I have ever met, and I believe him to be one of the greatest, if not the greatest swimming coach in the state ...

1990 Golf Team

Golfers get practice and lots of fresh air

While it could be said that 1990 was an off year or a rebuilding year for NU golf, it could also be said that it was our best season ever. As a group of golfers, we won only one meet all year, but we had a great deal of fun and never let the outcome of a meet affect us.

Our top six consisted of seniors Tony Ellis, Ron Hageman, Chris Hagenow, Scott Dedrick, junior Steve Parrish and freshman Jason Lee. After we won our first meet against Union, we thought we were a good team. Then reality hit and we proceeded to lose the rest of our meets. All this culminated with a last place finish at sectionals. However, our lack of success was not due to a lack of effort. Whenever tee-off time came around, we all tried our best.

I could have written about all the wild events of the season, but the specific details are not important. The six of us know what went on and how much fun it was. No one can understand unless they were out there, and those of us who were will never forget.

The 1990 track season started with numerous question marks and ended with a big exclamation point! Gone were 15 senior lettermen from the 1989 team, but returning were 14 basically untested lettermen along with 25 eager participants.

Throughout the year new relay combinations and new individual events were tried. We learned we could be successful through hard work. Jason Kinne set a new school record in the discus; we won eight meets; we won the NICL for the eighth straight year; and then we qualified in ten events for State. Using our relay strength (1st in the 4x100m and 4x200m, 2nd in the 4x400m, 5th in the medley and 4x800) and Jason Anderson's fifth in the 200m, we achieved our ultimate goal of being State Champs! The Dog Walks!

1990 BOYS' TRACK TEAM: Front row, Frank Negri, Chad Galles, J.D. Cryer, Tim Bastron, Neal Westin, Mike Bell, Lief Bentley, Lee Baker, Matt Kamienski. (1) School discus record breaker Jason Kinne starts his spin. (2) Anchoring the 4x400 relay, Jason Anderson breaks the tape for the win at the Aldrich Relays. (3) Lowering his body into the wind, Merl Schmits gets off to a good start. (4) At the Aldrich Relays, Frank Negri and Darian Kimbrough power across the finish line in the 100m dash. Negri was declared the winner breaking the meet record time. (5) Matt Kamienski and Lief Bentley lead off in the open 800. (6) Tucker Else leads the 200 around the bend. (7) Pressed by the competition, yet running their own race, Chris Keefe and Justin Hartman keep a good stride in the two mile run. (8) With the win in sight, Travis Else pushes to the end of the 400 far ahead of his pursuers. (9) At an early home meet, Tore Berg and Frank Negri show how well they've perfected their handoff, thereby proving Coach Lee's theory that you don't have to be the fastest runners, you just have to get the baton around the track the fastest.

The 1990 season got off to a slow start. We were anxious to get the year underway, but due to rainy and cold weather many of our meets were postponed and we waited to compete. The delay didn't seem to hurt us much as we won all of our dual meets. We were runner-up in four invitationals and champions of the Janesville Invitational. For the first time ever we competed in the Metro Track Meet and did very well, finishing third behind West Waterloo and Cedar Falls. Probably our biggest accomplishment of the season was capturing the conference title for the fourth straight year. No other team in the NICL has achieved this record four years in a row.

A couple of school records were broken this season. Amy Gephart broke the discus record, Tina Loenser bettered her own record in the 400m hurdles, and the 4x800m record was crushed by 37 seconds by Shannon Bunker, Tina Loenser, Shelli Olson and Nikki Kelly. The 4x800 relay also set a new record at the Comet Relays. We qualified for State in four events. The 4x800 relay finished seventh, the 4x400 team finished ninth, Tina Loenser finished eighth in the 400m hurdles, and Nikki Kelly finished fifteenth after being tripped in the 800m run.

We had another fantastic season. I wish the team the best of luck next year, and keep "Rockin' & Rollin'" "Again & Again & Again ... to be continued."

Boys' tennis posts winning season

With five returning lettermen, the NU Tennis Team really had great hopes for the 1990 season. With such players as Miles "watch out for East" Ellis, Andre "volley master" Walther, Todd "terminally injured" Rewoldt, Sanjay "Bunge" Thakur and Jeff "I finally got a girlfriend" Chamberlin, we were an experienced team. We also gained a new team member from Parkersburg, Sergio Cardenas, who really gave the team a boost with his undefeated record and his "studly" attitude. He soon became known as our "little Colombian spitfire"!

This team produced a winning record in dual meets at 6-5 and a third place finish in the conference meet. But this season could not have been as successful without the help of our first-year coach John Wiegmann and his assistant Pat Swan. They really gave a lot of help and support for which we are thankful.

I wish the best of luck to next year's squad as they take state.

Girls disappointed by luck and weather

Overall, this was a rather disappointing year for the girls' tennis team as our record shows. Although our scores don't show it, we have all learned a lot and progressed from the beginning of the season.

One thing we can blame is the weather which was extremely uncooperative this year. With many practices being rained out and frequently impossible wind conditions, it's amazing that we accomplished anything at all.

Since only two of us are graduating, I predict that there will be a strong team for next year and hopefully things will go better. Good luck to all of you next season, and thanks to Coach Primrose for not giving up on us.

Seventh graders follow "New Kids"

With sell outs of more than seven million albums, five chart-topping singles and dozens of concerts nationwide, The New Kids on the Block took the nation by storm. The Kids, a singing quintet of teenage boys created by MTV producer Maurice Starr, became the idols of thousands of teenagers, including more than a few locally. The NU seventh graders also made their first trips around the block, adjusting to the seven-period class day with a new teacher for every class. For Homecoming, they joined the eighth grade to create the winning banner that helped "defeat" Hudson. In spring the class compiled a collection of seventh grade written work. "Seventh Heaven" was released with an appropriate celebration.

Grade eight boosts sale of Blo-Pops

Blo-Pops, the hard candy suckers with bubble-gum centers, were bought and traded widely during 1989-90. The bizarre lollipops were popular with all NU students. In October, the class worked with the seventh grade to prepare the winning 1989 Homecoming banner. A uniquely eighth grade project was the exchange with the St. Paul Academy and Summit School. Early in November, the Minnesota students came to Iowa, and in May the NU eighth graders visit them. Just before Christmas, Mrs. Oakland directed the Artley Country School Celebration in the Marshall Center schoolhouse. It featured the works of Iowa author/illustrator Bob Artley. In January, eighth grade drama students presented a program of original sketches.

Freshmen favor Michael Jordan

Boys and girls alike watched in admiration as Michael "Air" Jordan, the talented Chicago Bulls basketball player, averaged over 40 points per game during the '89-90 season. Many of the freshmen also participated in sports, a few as varsity competitors. In the fall they chose a creative committee to design the class Homecoming banner. During the winter, many of them were involved in the Victorian Christmas and joined the group travelling to see "A Christmas Carol" at the Guthrie Theatre. Many class members got involved in the speech contests, as additional spaces were added to each competition category especially for freshmen. In all, they got off to a strong high school career.

Sophomores partial to neon ski jackets

Jackets with sleeves or panels of bright neon colors added excitement to the long winter days for many students, and sophomores seemed to have more than a few of these jackets. As its first fund raiser of the year, the sophomore class sold book bags to Price Lab School elementary and high school students. The project proved to be quite profitable and new ideas were proposed to increase the treasury. In the middle of the year the class received a notice of debts that were not paid two years ago. As a result they resolved, as a first priority, to pay off the deficit and balance the budget. The class then set out to raise enough money to offer the current juniors a prom to remember next year.

Juniors survive skateboard ban

Skateboard fans, many of them juniors, suffered a set back when Acting Principal Jim Kelly banned their wheels from the school grounds. Prohibited was riding along the inclined sidewalks around the building or even carrying the boards onto school property. However, the juniors found success in other undertakings. They worked hard on the junior-senior prom, raising money with such activities as the Homecoming breakfast and sports concessions. Many also led in activities ranging from sports and student council to music and drama. Juniors made the national spotlight with their involvement in the AIDS project "Threads, Needles and Patches" filmed by a California director for public television.

Tore Berg came from Norway with help from the Youth Education Exchange Program (a YMCA program). He lived with the Art and Karen Klingenberg family.

Now that I've taken that big walk across the stage and ended my year as a 1990 NU senior, I want to thank you all. I'm now pretty fluent in the American Language and have a good understanding of your slang. To take examples, "Hubba, hubba" and "How's it hanging?" I had a few troubles with the last one as I said it to a girl — just kidding!

I must say, my year at NU High has been super. Of course, some people had to tease me — but, hey, at least they didn't ignore me. You've got some really nice and good teachers here. I'll especially remember O'Brien, my government teacher. He was one special teacher. I'll never forget the day he raised his voice and said, "Tore, you shitteller you!" (a dirty Norwegian word he had picked up).

You NU High students really ought to be proud of yourselves because I've never seen a school as good in sport activities as you. I tried to keep myself as active as possible. In fall I joined the cross country team and found out that 3.1 miles are a bit too far for my stomach, but I did make it to State. Then in the winter I went out for swimming. At times I guess Coach Myers wondered if I were trying to commit suicide. Right now I'm in track and going to State.

Through my exchange year, I got a good hang on how American teenagers live. I've gone TP-ing, and was really surprised that it's illegal. I've gone cruising a lot; this is an idea I'll take with me to Norway. And, of course, I've been running after girls, one of my favorite activities. I went partying both high school and college style. So now I know how to party hardy. There is one thing I have to add. Whenever you get bored, give me a call at 011-47-4-587917 (No kidding).

Exchange students taste NU lifestyle

In Iowa from Australia, Leanne Trigg lived with Bob and Linda Potratz while she attended NU High from August through December 1989.

I came here, to NU High, on a spur of the moment decision from another school in Iowa. I think it's one of the best moves I've made. Right away people were friendly to me, both teachers and students, making me feel like I really belonged here. I wish I could have stayed longer than the three months I was here, but I kind'a ran out of money, a big problem for foreign students.

I absolutely loved Homecoming — the coronation, the game (which I'm glad we won) and the dance. We don't have anything like that in Australia and it was a great experience, one which I'll never forget.

The football games were fun, although I don't understand American football! And the girls' powderpuff game was ... well, different from anything I've played before.

I've met some of the greatest people here, and I love you all. Hey guys — "to the men we love ..." I won't finish the rest. I'll miss you all so much. If anyone comes to Australia, you're always welcome at my house. Thank you for making this a very special time for me.

Viktoria Goransson

Viktoria (Vicky) Goransson was an ASSE International exchange student from Sweden. In Cedar Falls she lived with Sandra Wright.

I came here without really knowing what to expect. As I look back there are so many great things that I've experienced. NU is a great school, not very big, but special. I got to know every one, and being in sports just tied us closer together. The teachers and coaches were more than that; they were like friends. I'd like to especially thank Coach Myers for teaching me how to swim and Coach Kelly for teaching me to run. I can't believe you didn't give up.

I'm grateful for all the wonderful opportunities you gave me to feel really special — like Homecoming, Prom, and Victorian Christmas (which was even named after me!)

I'd like to thank everyone for the support and encouragement you provided me during the year and for all you taught me about America and Americans.

I really loved going to school with you! Last I'd like to tell everyone you are totally awesome, and I wish you all the luck in the future. I'll miss you a lot.

If you ever find yourself in Sweden, stop by or just write me.

Frank Negri

Travelling under the auspices of Youth for Understanding, Frank Negri came to Cedar Falls and NU High from Switzerland. He lived here with the Alan and Sandra Hoy family.

NU High is not comparable to other high schools. There is something special that makes NU so effective. The relationship between teachers and students is more a "friend-to-friend" kind of relation. All the students are respected for their own talents and they give their best to the school in return.

I especially enjoyed the music program throughout the year. Personally, I had never played in a music ensemble before, but while here I became involved in both band and orchestra.

I also strongly participated in the sport program. Since soccer is not popular in Cedar Falls, I could enjoy new sports such as cross country, swimming and track.

But, best of all, I had the chance to live with a great family, the Hoys. They did their best to make me feel at home and supported me through my grumpy moments. Without their precious advice, I would have taken my Homecoming date to Burger King! Thanks to them I will go back to Switzerland with a head full of unforgettable memories.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody at NU who made my senior year so awesome. And if you ever happen to come to Europe, you will always be welcome at this address.

This year's NU delegates to the Model United Nations, advised by Dr. Rose, had their work cut out for them, representing Brazil. Many of the issues they dealt with concerned environmental problems involving Brazil's rain forests. The NU delegation had a good showing with many of its resolutions and amendments either considered or passed. The Model UN sessions were held April 19-21 on the campus of the University of Northern Iowa.

1990 TRAVELLERS TO FRANCE: Front, Genny Egger. Back, Todd Rewoldt, Zach Brown, Chris Bozik.

Students from several eastern Iowa schools joined Rewoldt, Brown, and Bozik for three weeks of travel and a homestay in France in June 1990. The group, led by Jim Becker of the NU High modern language department, spent a week in Paris living with a French family, then travelled by bus and the TGV high speed train into the French provinces. Their itinerary included Annecy and Grenoble in the French Alps, the French Riviera and several southern French cities.

Egger travelled through France during spring break. She made the trip on a special scholarship awarded in 1989 at the Foreign Language Festival for her outstanding essay on why she wanted to visit France.

Others step aside for Panther pride

Homecoming 1989 was unlike any other. New hallway ceilings and lights resulted in the hall decoration contest being replaced by a poster contest. Step Aside for Panther Pride, the theme, appeared in many unique forms, with the junior high entry winning top honors. The junior breakfast featured pancakes, donuts, sausage and watermelon. Door prizes included sweatshirts, hair spray and assorted gift certificates. Kirsten Christiason was crowned Thursday night and the audience was treated to a vocal duet by Mark Nielsen and Tim Bastron. Following a less-than-perfect rendition of the Alma Mater, the homes of the candidates were decorated according to tradition, together with the school lawn. Friday, after helium balloons were delivered to lockers and fall teams were introduced at a pep rally, the football team nudged Hudson aside, 21-14. A KOEL deejay provided music for Saturday's dance.

J.D. Cryer reigns at NU's first Morp

The 1990 senior girls decided it was time to ditch Sadie Hawkins, her hillbilly clothes and Dogpatch decorations, yet they wanted to keep their dance very informal. Therefore they called it Morp, the reverse of Prom.

Just a little bizarre?

The bizarre. At NU High it occurs on a regular basis. A freshman adds chocolate to her contest chili recipe. Oooh, the bizarre. High schoolers come to school on Saturday to lay out the yearbook. Absolutely bizarre. A Gutless Wimp talks back after receiving the title. Bizarre. Here are a few the camera caught.

1990 Prom Court

Prom carriage goes to Almost Paradise

The 1990 Junior-Senior Prom created a garden of dreams complete with plants, flowers, a fountain and horse and carriage rides outside. Although it was held in University Hall of the Maucker Union, the juniors did a magnificent job of creating an atmosphere to match the theme "Almost Paradise." Mark Hansen of KFMW spun tunes that kept the students dancing.

The Class of 1990

Graduates hold onto past, embrace future

Commencement ceremonies for the 48 members of the NU High Class of 1990 were held on Sunday afternoon, May 20, in the Auditorium of the University of Northern Iowa. With the strains of Pomp and Circumstance, the class entered wearing black and silver gowns. An attempt to dress in colors of individual choice ("looking like a bag of M&Ms," according to one graduate) had been foiled when the company wouldn't accept such orders. Class president J.D. Cryer looked back at the reputation of "the bad class," and ahead to see a highly promising future for each of them. The commencement address was given by the man they remembered as their elementary school principal, Dr. James Doud. His speech, inspired by the Hallmark slogan, reminded graduates of what can be done "When you care enough."

(1) To pay off his losing bet that Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev would be outed from power before the school year ended, Mr. O'Brien starts his 10 mile hike from Dike to NU. (2) Kristen Lew receives a well deserved service award. (3) Abby Ostby and Zina Everton write creatively. (4) After riding to school with Jason Kinne (and arriving late), Sean Linck and Liz Kinne pick up tardy slips. (5) Melissa McLaughlin checks her bug collection. (10) Brian Keating and Brett Rowell work on art projects with Mr. Harris.

Students, teachers, new faces, new rules, problem changes, fads and successes — all made 1989-90 unique and just a little bizarre. Although for many students the year was a disappointment with its new and stricter rules that seemed to create a lack of enthusiasm and school spirit, many events pulled the student body together.

This year brought many new faces to the front of the classrooms: Sue Ellen Savereide in language arts, Robert O'Brien in social studies, Leonard Upham in band and Merv Murdock in chorus. Dr. James Kelly took on the duties of acting principal. These new teachers also brought exciting new ideas that sparked student interest. Many students were involved in projects such as a pen-pal relationship with kids in East Germany instigated by Mrs. Savereide, and the whole school became interested in the political changes in the U.S.S.R. when Mr. O'Brien told his classes early in 1990 that he would walk from Dike to NU if Mikhail Gorbachev was still in power in May. Although he lost the bet, O'Brien took his defeat enthusiastically and survived the payoff.

Many NU accomplishments received recognition on both state and national level. A group of NU students became involved in the AIDS Quilt message with their performance of "Threads, Needles and Patches." In addition to travelling around the state, they performed at a Detroit convention and were videotaped by a San Francisco producer for a documentary. NU's winning choral reading group, "A Country School," also performed widely. Academically Beth Pedersen and Kari Lundeen placed second and sixth respectively in the National French Exam. In sports, NU did not break its winning tradition in running. The cross country team placed fourth at State, the boys' track team won conference and reclaimed the State 2A title, and the girls' team successfully defended its title as conference champion. Individually three NU athletes signed national letters of intent. Ryan Abraham signed with the University of Iowa and Jason Kinne with UNI for football; Shelli Olson signed with ISU for swimming.

As in other years, we had our share of fads. Two that gained the biggest following were the New Kids on the Block and skateboards, including all the paraphernalia that went with them. Other styles frequently spotted in the halls of NU were hair etchings, hip packs and neon clothing.

Changes within the school seemed as abundant as those in Eastern Europe. When students returned in the fall, they found new ceilings, lights, window blinds, clocks (finally), an air-conditioned library, newly painted lockers, more computers and a plethora of new rules. It took a while for everyone to get used to computerized grade cards, lounge check-out, tardy party invitations delivered by Mrs. Shepherd and not being able to use the broken clocks as a tardy excuse.

The end of the year took from NU many faces we have grown to respect and depend upon. Librarians Kent McIntyre and Joan Diamond and driver's education teacher Pete Mazula retired. Transferring within the university are science teachers Tim Cooney and Jim Kelly and two year Lab School Director David Else.

Although it was a year of adjustment and growth, the unique and bizarre have made it one to remember.
